Applications being accepted for Trump's inaugural parade

WASHINGTON (WUSA*9)--WASHINGTON – Applications are now being taken for groups that want to be part of President-Elect Donald Trump's inaugural parade. The parade will be on January 20, 2017 along Pennsylvania Avenue.

All interested marching bands, civic organizations, and community organizations need to apply online. The deadline for applications is November 28, 2016. Hardcopy applications will not be accepted.

The Joint Task Force-National Capital Region (JTF-NCR) is collecting, organizing and submitting the applications received to the Presidential Inauguration Committee, the agency that ultimately selects the parade participants. The JTF-NCR is not the approving agency.

Members of the JTR-NCR are responsible for coordinating all military ceremonial support on behalf of the Presidential Inaugural Committee and the Joint Congressional Committee on Inauguration Ceremonies. U.S. Armed Forces have participated in inaugurations since the first one held in 1789, when George Washington was escorted to Federal Hall in New York City to be sworn in as President.
